Literature Coordinator Report

During the first year of this term, the new daily reader garnered all the attention for the literature coordinators. But as we move into 2024, let's not forget all the other Conference approved literature. I'd like to challenge your groups to pick up something new. Maybe you always read the Courage to Change daily reader at the beginning of your meeting. Why not try One Day at a time instead? Or read a story from the back half of How Al-Anon Works.

There is so much great literature available, don't stick to the same book your group has always read – try something new!

What book are you reading in your free time?

In service,

Luanne T.
